

ENHANCE YOUR CAREER . . .

with an Online Presence at Workfolio.com

You are bigger than you think! Your unique career vision and accomplishments can become a magnet on Internet. Workfolio.com gives you an address for the potential uses of your abilities and accomplishments are beyond your ability to perceive them.

Part of the work of career professionals is to help their clients see more in all of the experiences of their career path. More important is the challenge of helping them to discover and show to others the many uses for their abilities and accomplishments.

Workfolio.com provides a stage on which your clients are able to position with words and pictures everything employers or future consulting partners would like to see about them. Interesting stories and pictures showing work accomplishments and interests give managers an insight into capabilities and fit for their organizations.

Work samples such as project summaries, testimonials, feedback surveys and letters give an in-depth view all of the abilities utilized in solving problems. Professional links in areas of expertise build one's value as a source of knowledge. References, password protected, build credibility.

Resumes are available for immediate download. Career and job seekers will have their own easy to remember Internet URL address to give to their managers. There will be one place where all career relevant information can be made available to potential hiring managers. Your work as a person who facilitates career transitions will be magnified.

Workfolio.com is available only through career professionals such as yourself, and all the financial arrangement builds equity. Visit Workfolio.com to see a sample Workfolio, send an email or call 425-822-1808.

Your past has consisted of all kinds of experiences, and your career future depends on communicating them to others. There are more options available than you think!
